Man Piles Ties on Wabash Tracks Because His Debtor Is Seeking to Leave Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 29.-Anton Barth, thought to be demented, attempted to wreck a St. Louis passenger train on the Wabash railroad by placing ties on the tracks at Seventy-first street a few minutes before it was due. He failed in his purpose because of the vigilance of Engineer Charles Atkinson. Barth says he attempted the crime in order to prevent Henry Bassett, who owed him money, from leaving the city.

A L CRAINS CLOSED AT AN ADVANCE IN CHICAGO PITS

CHICAGO, May 29.-Wheat market opened weak at 1c decline for May and from 1-4c to 5-8c down for July. Trade was on a considerably reduced scale the greater part of the forenoon, but at the decline with which the trading started there were found plenty of buyers and the closing was a cent higher. Weather was still much unsettled, with very heavy rain in lowa and Nebraska and over portions of Minnesota and Wisconsin. The weather bureau, however, predicted generally fair for to-morrow. Foreign news and statistics were of a somewhat bullish east.

Receipts of corn were heavy, but not quite as large as some of the privates estimates Saturday. The market opened 1 1-4c higher for May, but July at the immediate start was a shade lower. May started at 51c and July at from 48 7-8c to 48 5-8c. The first, after selling as high as 1 1-je, commenced to yield, although the offerings were small, and at the same time July took an upward direction and closed at an advance. Bartlett-Frazier, the principal agents of the operations in May corn, were sellers of that delivery at the start, and buyers of the July. Business, taken altogether, was only of moderate activity and volume.

Considering heaviness of the local run of hogs, and a decline in their price of from 5c to 10c, the provision market was comparatively steady. Business was no improvement in volume over the small total that has recently comprised a day's trading. Local run of hogs was 52,000, and the aggregate received at the principal western packing centers was 90,400, compared with 57,100 the similar day of the previous week.

Oats were dull, with only a light trade transacted. Fluctuations were within a narrow range. The market held strong in spite of the heavy receipts. Wet weather throughout the oat states gave the bulls more encour-and cash and like for July. September declined 1 ke. The outside markets were nervous and ragged. Chicago declined 3c for May. New York was entirely out, while St. Louis closed at Saturday's level, with nothing doing.

There was little feature to corn to-day except the big receipts. Chicago reported nearly a million bushels, with a nall million sold to-day for June shipment. Longs were good buyers of the old July and in this way it was said that an effort would be made to control the cash situation. Exports were only 113,000 bushels; estimates were 1,017 cars. Aside from the decline of 12c in July oats the market was practically at Saturday's closing level. Trade was slow and offerings light. Closing was about steady, with July a shade off. Clearances were 78,000 bushels; estimates were 251 orrs.

A few buying orders tor October clover seed put that option up 5c, Cash was to gleeted. Neither receipts nor shipments were reported, Closing was quiet.

LARGE HOG PECEIPTS-GOOD LOCAL SLAUGHTERINGHAND EASTERN SHIP-PING DEMAND AT 5 TO 10C DECLINE

There was a general impression at the close of last week that the decline of about 50c per 100 pounds in cattle prices within the last two weeks would result in a marked falling off in the receipts to-day and the arrivals turned out to be even smaller than the number looked for. The moderate offerings enabled sellers to take take a comparatively ind-pendent stand and a good many sales of steers and butcher stock showed advances of about 10c per 100 pounds. Aside from the sman supply, the most marked feature of the market was the unusual scarcity of prime cettle, there being few steers that were cattle, there being few steers that were choice enough to sell around $5. Country shippers who had cattle on the market expressed themselves as well pleased with their sales, for although cattle were selling 65475c below the high time last month, they were around 50c higher than the low time this year, which was in February. declined 5416e this marning dedemand, the receipts rising to unusuallly liberal proportions. The "run" was even larger than had been looked for, and now that corn planting is about completed large receipts may be expected, provided prices do not suffer too large reductions. June is almost here and large receipts for that month have been generally pre-dicted. The best hogs are selling at $5.40, being 32½c below the highest price of the year. Hogs are selling much higher than two, three and four years ago, a large sheep and lamb supply caused some weakness in prices, although there was no general quotable decline from last week's closing range. CATTLE.

After last week's receipts of 62.642 cattle, following receipts of 60.013 the previous week, large receipts this week would have been the cause of further large slumps in prices. Fortunately for sellers, they heeded the warnings sent thems and only about 18 600 cattle argument. sellers, they heeded the warnings sent them and only about 18,000 cattle arrived here to-day, against 23,798 last Monday, 11,22 on Monday a year ago and 21,100 on Monday two years ago. The effect was beneficial and there was a good general demand at strong to 10c higher priess beef steers selling on a basis of general demand at Strong to be fighter prices, beef steers selling on a basis of $2.9644.75 for common to fair grades, $5.0065.45 for medium, $5.4065.75 for good lots and $5.8066.40 for choice to extra, the bulk of the steers selling at $4.606 5.75. Heavy cattle met with a limited demand, while grassy lots were discriminated against. Butcher stock was active a: strong prices, cows and helfers celling at $1.59/12.40, bulls at $2.25/14.75, calves at $2.09/17.00 and milch cows at $20/150 per head. Stockers and feeders were in light demand at $2.25/13.25 for inferior up to $4.25/15.15 for the better class, fancy light stockers selling around $1.50.

SHEEP.

About 28,000 head were received here to-day, against 31,007 last Monday and 16,-160 on Monday a year ago. There was a somewhat, restricted demand from the different classes of buyers and prices were inclined to weakness in quite a number of instances. Clipped lambs sold at $4,0046.00 for the poorer lots up to $6,0046.05 for choice flocks, and a few Colorado wooled lambs sold at $7,5547.35. Clipped sheep sold at $2.2505.00, with choice export wethers at $4.85, rams be-ing salable at $3.0005.75 and shorn yearlings at $5.00@5.70.

HOGS. Large receipts were looked for to-day, but the arrivals are ahead of the expec-tations, being about 50,000 hogs, compared with 32,628 received last Monday, and 38. 23 received on Monday a year ago. There was a large local and shipping demand, but the extremely liberal supply resulted

JAPANESE SECUR-ITIES AS ACTIVE AS TOCO'S SHIPS

NEW YORK, May 29.—In financial circles the Japanese naval victory was the principal incentive for activity in securities. The response in the market for American issues was faint, although there was a general belief that peace in the far east must now result. There was an advance of about a point in the principal American stocks, begun through the London market and followed on this side.

The feature of the trading was the very sharp rise in all Japanese issues. This advance began in the London market, where the principal financing of Japanese securities is done. But on this side there was marked interest in the fluctuations, because of the fact that American money to the extent of $100,000,000 has gone into Japanese bond underwriting. Indeed, the last installment on the most recent general offerings was paid in New York only last Thursday. London's prices showed advances of 14 to 34 points, according to the class of the bonds. On the eastern exchange three classes of Japanese ounds are listed. During the morning session, through the influence of the London advance and through liberal buying, much of it coming from Chicago, similar advances were recorded. Japanese first 6 per cents sold at 100%, compared with 98% Saturday; the 6s, second series, sold up from 951/2 Saturday to 981/4, and the 41/2 per cents opened up four points higher at 90 and sold freely around 89.. This last-named issue, which was floated at 871/2 and interest, is only fractionally above the price at which Chicago and other investors bought of the under-

There was some speculation as to the prospect of new financing for one of the belligerents with a view to paying war indemnities, but this had little or no direct effect. On the other hand, it was believed that most of the proceeds from the latest American payments on the Japanese bonds would remain in this country for some time. This is expected to hold down eastern call-money rates.

Prices in American stocks made their best record of the morning at the very outset, and immediately showed the effects of some profit taking. Trading was very dull, largely because of the holiday to-morrow. Prices were supported from time to time, and best advances were made in Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, Delaware and Hudson, Pennsylvania, New York Central, Reading, Copper, Sugar, Atchison and Steel preferred.

afternoon to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gardt, 1718 Wells street, to investigate the birth of a still-born child. No physician was in attendance at the case, which was in charge of Mrs. Louisa Wessel, a midwife. The coroner did not complete his investigations but found nothing to indicate that the birth was other than normal.
